All kinds of Commercial Printing promptly executed at low rates at the forces at his command instrumental in overthrowing the monarchy? That is all she has to find out, and by that alone this question must be settled. That being the case anyone with an eye can see for them-selves what the result will, and must be. Does any sane man in this community believe for a moment that the revolutionists could have overthrown the Queen's government or any other government with the forces they had at their command the 17th of January last? If there is such a man to be found here, who does believe they could have done it, then I can say with a clear conscience, he is either a fool or an idiot. The very idea that thirty or forty old fogies and school boys could clean out two or three hundred well-equipped men, is too absurd to think of. Why, if it had come to a brush, I would wager my life to a sixpence, they would have been wiped out of existence, with not one left to tell the tale. That is, of course, if they had dared to face the music, but they knew well enough there would be no fighting: the thing was all cut and dried beforehand, for they knew perfectly well Uncle J. L. Stevens with the marines from the Boston was backing them (that cannot be denied); hence, the bold front they assumed. When the Queen's party found out "how the land lay," and when the Queen was informed of it, she gave up under protest. We were not fools enough to cross swords with Uncle Sam. Our bold "Americans" on the other side might have been fools enough to have done it (by the way we will have a chance to see whether they will or not shortly), but we prefer to keep a respectable distance from him, give him all the room he wants, and we are not ashamed to admit it either. And when they take it on themselves to censure Commissioner Blount for telling the truth, and nothing but the truth, they show at once the "cloven foot," for they know in their hearts (if they have any) it was nothing but facts that he uttered in Jan. 3 his report. It was not a partial one, as they say it was, but a true, Weanesday Feb. 3 straightforward document of events, No Freight will be received after as he found it. Why, then, all this howling in foreign papers about something they do not know the first thing about? All they know about the situation is, what some annexationists from here have told them. Must Col. Blount tell a lie (who has been here and found out the ins and outs of the whole transaction) to please them; or, in other words, to accommodate them! They must have known he came here to do a duty, and he has not deviated one iota from the instructions laid down for him, viz.: to investigate thoroughly the causes which overthrew the monarchy. That he did so, and did it well, his report stands out in bold relief as proof conclusive, and we as eye witnesses vouch for its truthfulness in every particular, and I am persuaded that the American people as a whole will coincide with him (Blount), and give him credit for doing his duty thoroughly, when they find out for themselves the lies the annexationists from here have circulated broadcast. By the way, I see Mr. F. Wunden berg has been dismissed for telling the truth. How about the others who stand high now in the present government, who are guilty of the same offence? What's sauce for the goose ought to be for gander, likepu.
